

When can you expect the application results?

This is an overview of when we plan to publish the application results of many of our major calls for proposals.

Application results will be published under the call you applied for. To get notified when the results are published, subscribe to our newsletter.

In addition to announcing the projects allocated funding, we will also send a letter via My RCN web. The letters will be sent on a continuous basis.

Please note that companies that are Project managers or partners must familiarize themselves with the regulations on inside information.

Current allocations

Below are some of our planned allocations in June. We will publish the grants as the results for each topic become available. A list of the projects awarded funding can be found in the application results for this call. The results will also be announced in our newsletter.
